

From: "Nathan Feltch" <nfeltch@gmail.com>
Subject: Promotion for Professor
Date: November 17, 2010 4:13:11 AM MST
To: <chuck.allison@uvu.edu>

I have to say that Chuck is by far the best professor I had while at UVU! Using a public site such as ratemyprofessors.com should make it abundantly clear that students love him as a teacher. Just look at the Helpfulness and Clarity ratings vs. the Easiness rating. Based on that information it's easy to infer that even though Chuck's classes were so difficult, we all felt like we accomplished something great by the end of each class. Chuck's classes were some of the hardest classes not because of the way Chuck taught the material, but was because he taught so much information in such a short period of time that we all had to work very hard to keep up. Chuck was able to present vast amounts of information in a way that my mind was able to absorb. I don't believe I've gained more knowledge from any other teacher, and I attribute that knowledge as a major factor that helped me get to where I am today! A student should NEVER take a class from Chuck if they are hoping to slide through one of his classes. When you finish his class, you worked very hard and you had solid enough of an understanding of the topic that you could have very in-depth conversations with individuals with 10+ years of industry experience.

Chuck deserves this promotion more than anyone else I know!